

Welcome to the Institute of Geography at the University of Hamburg.

The orientation week for regular and incoming students is taking place from October 10th to October 13th at the Geomatikum (Bundesstraße 55). It is organized by students from different semesters and will give you a first impression of the University of Hamburg and the Institute of Geography. We are aiming to create an open space, making it possible to connect you with other students as well as to give an introduction to the study plan, to the staff and the working groups at the Institute. Also we want to introduce other possibilities of participation in, and outside of, the University as well as possibilities to shape your studies according to your own means.

We try to provide (whisper) translations for the orientation, if you are in need of these or have any questions or comments, just write us an email to wir@fsr-geographie.de.

We are looking forward to welcome you,
the orientation-team

Programme for the Orientation Week (10-13th October 2016)

	MONDAY, 10.10. starting 10am	TUESDAY, 11.10. starting 12pm	WEDNESDAY, 12.10. starting 10am	THURSDAY, 13.10. starting 11am
BLOCK 1 (2-3 h)	Introduction & Meeting other Students	Studyplan Courses, Study Office & Student Exchange	University Policy & political Involvement	Topics of Geography presented by Students for Students
BLOCK 2 (2-3 h)	Meet the Institute of Geography	Field Trips	Tour around Campus Campus, IT & Language center	Field Trips
EVENING		GeoKino (Film)		Kneipe (Bar)

Where do we meet? For Block 1 we meet everyday in room 740 (Master-students meet Monday & Tuesday in room 838) in the Geomatikum (Bundesstraße 55).